Dear Elena:

This is to inform you that the above-identified patent application was filed at the U.S. Patent Office on November 3, 2003. Enclosed are two copies of the application as filed.

We have received a copy of the search report and have prepared and filed an information disclosure statement, a copy of which is enclosed for your files. When we receive information regarding the filing particulars we will prepare the formal documents and forward them to you for signature by the inventor.

Every inventor and his company (and sometimes other such as supervisors and co-workers) and anyone involved in the prosecution of a patent application has a duty to disclose to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office pertinent prior art of which he/she is aware. A statement submitting a copy of the known prior art preferably should be submitted promptly.

Failure to disclosure known prior art can result in the application being stricken, and the issued patent being held invalid or unenforceable, and in personal liability. Therefore, please provide us with any pertinent prior art which you or the inventor is aware of. If in doubt about the pertinence of an item of prior art, please err on the safe side; bring it to our attention. We can then forward it to the Examiner, if we deem disclosure to be necessary.
